

BEFORE THE KARNATAKA STATE CONSUMER DISPUTES REDRESSAL COMMISSION, BASAVA BHAVAN, BANGALORE

No: KSC/ADM/11/2003-04(Part-2)

Date: 26.12.2018

C I R C U L A R

It has come to the notice of Karnataka State Consumers Disputes Redressal Commission that some of the litigant public and advocates are sending emails and fax by enclosing their applications to be filed before the respective benches of this Commission. Some of the applications relates to adjournment etc. All the applications which are required to be filed before the Commission are required to be filed in the presence of parties. The Karnataka Consumer Protection Regulation, 2005 at Regulation - 11(4) even provides for imposing cost for every adjournment. It is also noticed that some of the applications are received on general holidays seeking application to be placed on the next date. There is no provision under the Consumer Protection Act, 1986 to place such applications before the Commission in the absence of parties. There is also chance that such applications might have been received from unreliable sources. In order to avoid the complications, it is notified that henceforth such applications received by way of email and fax will not be placed before the benches. The parties and advocates are requested to file the applications before the respective benches on the date of hearing personally or through their representatives in accordance with rules.
